THE WEATHER.

The record of the thermometer yesterday in front of C. W. Brandon's drug store was: 7 a. m., 8 degrees above; 12 m., 32 degrees above; 4 p. m., 25 degrees above; 8 p. m., 14 degrees above.

ABOUT THE CITY.

M. P. Lavelle of Butte is in the city.

Miss Rose Campbell is ill at her home in West First street.

P. J. Brophy and bride of Butte are guests of the Montana.

William Welch is sick with lagrippe at his home in East Park avenue.

Les Montagnards will hold a very important meeting this evening in Y. M. L. rooms on Main street.

Frank Zimmermann is rejoicing over the arrival of a bright little railroader at his home this week. All concerned are doing well.

Mrs. Maggie Curran and Mrs. Kate Lynch, who have been visiting Mrs. Kate Holland, returned to Butte on the afternoon train.

A sleighing party left the city last night for one of the ranches down the valley where arrangements were made to furnish refreshments and dancing. The hobnob with some of Anaconda's best young people returned home at an early hour this morning.

Chris Steuennagel, secretary of the Clerks' assembly, and one of the valued employees of the McKinnon & McKay grocery house, departed yesterday for his home in Listowell, Ontario, where it is said by one of his fellow-bachelors, grocers that he will be married to one of Ontario's fairest daughters.

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Soarles, 412 West Park avenue, was invaded last evening by a number of their friends. It was a surprise party and the self-invited guests passed the evening in cards, music and dancing. Refreshments were served by the hostess and a very enjoyable time was had by all present.

Coasting on Birch street is excellent, and that street was crowded yesterday afternoon and evening with men, women and children. Double bobs, scoops, jumpers and home made sleds afforded a means of pleasure to the happy, jolly crowd. Sledging seems to be a pastime now just now, coasting on sleds and skis and sleigh riding are the popular fads of Anaconda's young people.

The married ladies belonging to the Lowland club met at the parlors of the Montana yesterday morning, and after an hour's deliberation decided to give a dancing party last evening, as Lent would be here before the dancers would want to go home to-night. All arrangements were made yesterday and a large number of our society people took advantage of the last opportunity to have a good time before they don sackcloth and ashes. Professor Kennicott's orchestra furnished the music. The floor managers were Mesdames W. M. Thornton, B. F. Mahan, George Linsey, W. H. Harrison, L. O. Leonard and S. G. Smith.

Still Bright and Blooming.

Many bright and useful publications come round to us annually, and the sight of them is as refreshing and welcome as the faces of friends on New Year's day. Friends' faces are kept in remembrance; good books for reference, inasmuch as they lead and teach us what is to be done in many painful straits. One such publication, always foremost, is before us, brimful of sound advice and the raciest bits of fun, original and copyrighted, from the pens of such noted humorists as Bill Nye, Opie P. Read, Danbury-Nees-Man and others. It is a free gift of the season at the druggists' counter, and will be sent forth by the highly popular "St. Jacob's Oil Family Almanac and Book of Health and Humor, 1893." The work differs somewhat from its former editions, but is none the less attractive and in many of its features is the superior of former numbers. One special feature is the "Offer of $100," open to all contestants, the details of which a perusal of the book will more fully give. The almanac is sent forth by the Chicago A. V. G. company, Baltimore, Md., proprietors of some of the best known and most reliable medicinal preparations. A copy will be mailed to any address on receipt of a two cent stamp by the above firm.

At the Montana.

The following guests were registered at the Montana yesterday: M. P. Lavelle, Butte; W. H. Hahlo, Butte; R. W. Foster, St. Paul; D. T. Haskett, Chicago; Miss Julia S. Lawrence, Helena; A. P. Sinclair, San Francisco; S. M. Nixon, Butte; J. W. Swan, Denver; P. J. Brophy and wife, Butte; Ed J. O'Neill, San Francisco; E. D. Leavitt, Butte; C. W. Bolinger, city.

IT IS VALENTINE'S DAY

The Origin and History of This Festival.

HOW IT WAS OBSERVED

A Relic of the Observances of the Ancient Scots and Saxons—How Their Practices Have Survived.

"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love,"—Tennyson

Ever since Daphnis and Chloë murmured their love songs, under the sunny skies of the Aegean sea, the return of spring has been hailed as the advent of the reign of the god of love. Repending to the revival of Nature's realm, the spirit of love in the breasts of the young has been supposed to respond to the quickening pulse of nature, and the glad spring months are dotted with holidays set apart for the proper observance of simple customs intended to do honor to the deity who in pagan days was supposed to direct the love affairs of humanity.

The exact origin of St. Valentine's day is shrouded in mystery. Centuries ago, in Scotland, England and in some parts of France, this patron saint of lovers received special homage on Feb. 14, and some of the customs that were observed in those days have survived. Gifts of flowers and amorous sonnets were sent by love struck swains to their ladies, and their acceptance or rejection told the lover how his suit was regarded by the object of his affections. Daring tests of valor were performed in the hope of exciting the admiration of the ladies, and word dances and incantations were indulged in by the young people of these lands.

These practices have survived in the modern valentine and the dainties which are universal in America upon this day. The embossed tokens that are exchanged on St. Valentine's day, with their hearts and cupids are but the modern form of the ancient symbols of regard and reverence for the saint whose name has been perpetuated in St. Valentine's day. The flowers that will be given to-day and the balls that will be given to-night are but a survival of the customs of the old Anglo-Saxon customs that prevailed years ago.

The "comic" valentine is an evolution of modern times. It has deprived the day of whatever touch of tender sentiment may have originally been associated with it. These vile screeds, setting forth alleged weaknesses of the recipients, would not have been tolerated for an instant by the devotees of St. Valentine in the ancient observance of the day. Their very existence is a slur upon decency, and the sending of one of them stamps the sender as devoid of consideration and decency. Happily each year finds them fewer in number, and they will soon disappear.

Why the 14th day of February should have been selected for the observance of these practices is a matter of doubt. The celebration undoubtedly had its origin in pagan rites, and the selection of this day marks the mingling of pagan and Christian customs. There are two saints of the calendar whose history is intimately connected with this day. St. Valentine, the martyr, was beheaded on the 14th of February by order of the Emperor Claudius, who vainly attempted to win him back to idolatry. Valentines of Hieranina, who performed many miracles, is also supposed to be commemorated in the observance of this day. The Roman legend, however, credits the former saint with the honor of the day, and it is supposed that the coincidence of the date of his martyrdom with the return of spring in southern climes, led to the perpetuation of the early pagan rites and customs.

THE CHINESE GO.

The London Restaurant Closed Up—No Business for Poor John.

One of the oldest Chinese restaurants in Anaconda, the London on First street, closed down Saturday, and yesterday afternoon the proprietors, the brothers Ah and Goo Lung, the proprietors of the joint, removed all their furniture and grub to Chinatown. The boycott was too much for the pigtailed and when they found it was impossible to pay expenses it would be better to retire from business. Gosh & Lung owed several bills around town, but they couldn't be found to give their side of the story.

Some of the committee in charge of the boycott against the Chinese were feeling in the best of humor yesterday. They say the failure of the London restaurant is just a starter, that all the Chinese joints in town are losing money, but are holding on hoping that the agitation will blow over in a few weeks. But if the Chinese think the agitation is going to cool down they are badly mistaken, as a meeting of the committee of business men and labor representatives took place at the head of the anti-Chinese movement will be held next Thursday evening at Tietjen's cigar store, when they will consider the feasibility of holding another mass meeting. Every member of the committee is urged to be present at Thursday night's meeting as important business will be transacted.

There are three Arabian peddlers selling notions to the people of Anaconda these days and they patronize Chinese restaurants, after promising the members of the boycott committee that they would dine at white restaurants. The labor people think if the residents of this city knew that the pack peddlers patronized the Chinese they would boycott the Arabian knights of the grip. The three Arabians referred to make it a point to visit Anaconda every day.

Two of a Kind.

The New York Commercial Advertiser says: "It may be true that Whitelaw Reid blames Andrew Carnegie for the defeat of the Republican ticket last fall. It may also be true that Mr. Carnegie blames Mr. Reid somewhat for the same catastrophe." And it may be true that both gentlemen are hitting very close to the bullseye of truth.

IN POLICE COURT.

Big Row in John Rom's Saloon in East Park Avenue.

Judge Rockwell learned more about John D. Rom's saloon in East Park avenue yesterday than he ever knew before. According to the testimony of several witnesses with badly bruised faces Mr. Rom's saloon was the scene of a sort of hit-the-first-man-you-meet party Saturday night.

Joe Muhle was one of the principals in the disgraceful affair, as was very evident from the appearance of his face. His eyes were swollen and had a blue-black tint. In fact they looked as if they were hand-painted. Joe paid $10 and costs for his pains.

Joe Vitkevitch played a leading part in the Rom's tragedy. He had to have his face sewed together by a physician before he could talk. Joe V. plead guilty to disturbance and was fined $10 and costs, which he paid.

Frank Kotak was another one of the strikers at Rom's joint and plead guilty without any ceremony and planked down $10 and costs.

Frank Nehar was bruised up pretty badly about the head but still he insisted that they never touched him. The judge thought he was guilty and so fined him $10 and costs which amount Nehar could not raise, and he now languishes in the little old log cabin around the corner.

A fellow named William McClure pleaded guilty to the charge of being drunk and disorderly, and was given three hours to get out of town.

CHINAMEN MUST GO.

Resolutions Adopted by the Citizens' Committee.

At a citizens' meeting held in Anaconda on Monday, January 9, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, There is in our midst a large number of Chinese engaged in various occupations in our city, and

WHEREAS, Said Chinese are not citizens of this country, and cannot become such; that they are of a race which cannot commune or be assimilated with the people of this country, and

WHEREAS, They are engaged in various occupations to the injury of the laboring men and women of this place, and their earnings and accumulations, instead of being kept here, as are the earnings of an accumulation of other people, are sent out of the country, and

WHEREAS, They are in every way an undesirable class of inhabitants and of no benefit to this community, and

WHEREAS, The only reason they have for remaining here is for the accumulation of money, they being in no way interested in the prosperity of this place, or of any part of the country in fact, except as it may increase their accumulations; therefore be it

Resolved, That it is to the interest of this community that they should not reside amongst us, and that as the only thing that keeps them amongst us is the patronage of our citizens, therefore be it further

Resolved, That each and every one of our citizens of Anaconda be requested to withhold his patronage, of every kind and nature, from them, and be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the ANACONDA STANDARD for a period of thirty days.
